There was a Sci-Fi TV series which used to be aired on Doordarshan in late 90s. The show format was that the crew of the ship used a time machine to bring some well known scientist like Einstein, Newton from past so as to solve the problem they faced in the space...whats its name??

I think up to 88-89 was the golden period or satyug of India...after cable was introduced India has lost innocence in the masses and cunningness stepped in ...otherwise people were so loving,helping, always in high spirits in spite of poorly living or low standard of livingthat ambience was destroyed within a period of 10-15 years and now you can realize the damage doneI am not against cable transmission which has opened our mind towards higher targets but all channels should not have been given permission at that time...some must have been censored or totally banned at that time but our leadership does not have such intellectual vision to foresee the events in national interests instead they are concerned about their commision.....only god can give us light !

submitted on 09 February 2012

You are vey much right in saying so Rahul if thought over by that angle.
But since every development brings along some negatives too..... therefore we should try to stress on the positives and make the best out of it.
However no doubt we have faced the negative consequences a liytle more from the positives.

Anyway thanks for writing in and Keep Visiting.

Dear Ravi,

The article here is to remember all those lovely serials which left an impression on us with their content, QUALITY wise and not QUANTITY wise.

And here at BTC we are more into sharing our personal choices and not really into Copy-Pasting content from any site (Wikipedia in this case).

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_programs_broadcast_by_DD_National

So I would appreciate if you can share a few words of your own about any of your personal choice with all of us here, instead of a long list please.

I hope I was able to explain myself humbly.

Cheers!

Hi Bobbysing,

There was a serial on DD1 in late 90's I think, where Kanwaljit Singh played a rich politician, whose spoilt son seduces and elopes with an illiterate village girl. A fierce policeman's role, played by Govind Namdeo (not sure abt this) etc.. Does anyone remember the serial name and/or rest of the cast??

My question is a bit out of thr context of ur topic. But since you have a good info on DDs serials, so I asked. Pls reply.

I really dont recall any such character done by Kanwaljit but in the late 90s there were two serials in which he was in the Key role and they were "ANDAZ" and SAANS".

Hi,

There was a serial called Guniram which had Rakesh Bedi in the main lead. Not sure if it was telecasted before 1991 but it was really one of my fav.

One more movie based serial Show Theme . It was for 20 mins but was very interesting one.

I also liked Surag but I think it was post 1991.

There was one more serial SEA Hawks which had R madhvan , Anoop Soni etc.

Hi Bobbysing,

Great blog. Thanks for the treasure trove of information.Came to this site searching for the name of 2 old DD serials. Maybe its already listed here but cannot be certain. I will be very thankful if you could remind me the names.

(1) This was a hindi adaptation of Bengali novel "Sei Somoy" by Sunil Gangopadhyay. One of the characters is the anglophile poet "Michael Madhusudhan Dutt", played by a very young "Rajit Kapoor" (The same guy who later was cast as Byomkesh Bakshi"). Also there was a character "Nabin Sen" who dies in the end of a dog bite. The serial was a historical portrayal of the time of Bengali Renaissance of the late 19th century.

(2) The second serial - This was a story where a fierce competition happens between a courtesan and a music critic in the court of a king (possibly maratha king, not sure) I think the music critic was played by Girish Karnad. I remember there was an episode where he meticulously points out some mistakes in the dance steps of the courtesan, who I think later becomes his 'shishya'.

Thanks and best wishes.

Hi Nikhil,

I think this was a film made for Doordarshan only by B. P.Singh who is currently making C.I.D. serial for Sony TV. In the late 80s he also made Ek Shunya Shunya serial for Doordarshan too. But since this was made and aired on Doordarshan so it can be fetched from there only or when they themselves release its DVD someday.

In another case you can only see it if it is telecast again and a fan records it and posts it on net. So we can only hope till then.

Cheers!

Hi Bobbysing,

I wrote earlier 2 weeks back (15th April entry) to ask for the names of two old DD serials. I have now identified the first one, which was the adaptation of the bengali novel "sei somoy" and would like to share it here, in case anyone remembers seeing it. The serial was called "Yugantar". It was very tough to trace this because the filmography of Rajit Kapoor listed on IMDb as well as wikipedia don't mention this role at the start of his career. However after a lot of googling I came across one single reference in an interview. (link posted below, search for "Yugantar")

<http://www.asianage.com/life-and-style/%E2%80%98turn-down-mindless-offers-which-lack-challenge-push-boundaries%E2%80%99-747>

Maybe now you remember about this ? I hope its available to buy on video, or someone uploads this serial on youtube. It would be great as the serial I remember was considered quite a classic in those days.

Thanks and Warmest regards,
Ponchon

P.S : Trying hard to trace the other one iwth Girish Karnad, will let you know if I succeed.

Hi, there,

The list of programmes taken from Wikipedia has a little mistake which you seem to have copied. The programme WHAT'S THE GOOD WORD was an English programme and not a Hindi programme as currently listed. Furthermore, for those who don't know, the programme was devised by the late Adi Marzban for Doordarshan and contrary to popular belief and claims, not by Sabira Merchant. She was the show host, and not even the first one. There were at least four others before her, including the late Partap Sharma and Dolly Thakore. Just thought I should set the record straight, because I am sick of seeing Adi Marzban not get the credit for what was probably the longest running game show on Doordarshan.

PS. I know because I too was the show's host before Sabira. And for several shows at that.

bobbysing

submitted on 03 May 2012

Dear Rohinton Mody,

First of all it seems you that you are completely new to my site otherwise you would not have used the word COPY here. Cause this is nothing taken/copied from somewhere as I dont follow the new generations Facebook Copy-Paste trend here.

Secondly you seem to be too hurry in writing your comment as the list you are referring to has been posted by a friend here with the name RAVI in his personal comment below the actual post which is all copied from Wikipedia. And in response to his comment I have duly informed him about his act.

Thirdly if you might have read my actual post then that is only about HINDI serials before 1990 and I havent talked about any English Serials here.

So next time please read the post carefully by spending some time on it and avoid writng comments in a hurry please.

It was nice to have you here and keep visiting.

Dear Bobby Sir

I would like to know if in your knowledge Is there anyway we can get copies of all old serials from Doordarshan mandi house as i am sure they must have kept originals with them. Some serials have been released by different companies like Shemaroo but I am sure if Serials like Farmaan, Aa Bail Mujhe Maar , Darpaan , Ajnabi are released they will definately sell like Hot Cakes. Do you have any plans to buy there copyrights and sell them count me as one of your first customers.

Regards
Rashmi

bobbysing

submitted on 16 May 2012

Dear Rashmi,

Doordarshan is a Govt. Organisation and it has its own pace and methods of operations which are not based on the normal business strategies like other Home Video companies. So we are helpless in this and can only wait for what they would like to release and when.

However another hard truth about the serials is that they should have wider audience and should also have some resale value of their own in them. So many favourite serials of we all may not be good from the Sale point of view in the market. Hence you will have to rely more on the fan uploads on youtube only from time to time. Like recently FARMAAN serial has been uploaded by a fan at youtube.

Regarding the copyrights, I am not the right person to buy them but lets hope that all good serials do come out on Home Video in the near future.

BTW currently Doordarshan stuff is being sold by a company called "MYSTICA MUSIC" operating from Delhi.

So you can also chek there too at the following link:

First of all my heartiest congratulations for taking pain to compile the list of these old DD serials which we all old timers used to enjoy a lot -unlike today's time when we have plethora of TV serials running day in day out yet nothing have the quality and lasting impressions of the past ones.

I have come across this link which might help someone in buying these DVDs/ VCDsapart from normal downloads from You Tube.

Late 70s -Early 80s - there were two good cartoons that used to come - one on Friday eve - "mole's story" and Sunday morning "Barbapapa".

About hindi serials you mentioned most of the popular ones already, few more worth mentioning would be..

Phir wahi Talaash, Naqaab, Intezar, Talaash, Satyajit Ray Presents [This was hindi serial directed by Sandip Ray in the lines of Katha-Sagar but stories were all written by the Great Maestro, mentioning it as you mentioned this to be a regional serial in one of your replies to someone]..

There were few very good english Serials/Docu that used to come on Sundays..

early 80s - Secrets of the Seas, The Cosmos [by Carl Sagan], Different Strokes, and ofcourse greatest of all sci-fi genre- Startrek TOS.

Tuesday eve - The Gaint Robot aka Johny Sheko and his Flying Robot. late 80s a German comedy serial "Dldi's comedy" in the lines of Chaplin..

Hi Swaroop,

Thanks for you detailed comment but I would like to mention a few point regarding the same.

1. I have really not focussed on Cartoons or English Serials in this list so you will not find them hereas mentioned in your comment.
2. The post only mentions a few serials which were most famous all over so it is bound to miss many names which might be our personal favourites.
3. Regarding "Satyajit Ray Presents", though I was an avid TV freak at the time but really dont remember this one relayed in HINDI. May be I missed it as many others around me since no one recalls it watching in Hindi. But if you are so much sure about its Hindi version then it should releasing in DVD soon as all other Ray Classics including the documentaries and short films are being released on Home Video.

But if you do have any more information about the HINDI version of "Satyajit Ray presents" then do let me know as I am a big fan of the maestro and would love to have this in my collection.

Cheers!

Hi Himanshu,

It seems that you havent read the Post and comments carefully but as mentioned before I would like to once again state that :

1. This is only a list of some selected names and not the list of all Doordarshan serials before 1990. For a complete list you can visit the Wikipedia page with the title Doordarshan.
2. Secondly The list here is about the Hindi most popular serials which came before the Cable Revolution in India i.e. before 1990. And the serials you menitioned like Shaktiman & Chandrakanta came much after 1990.

Hi

Nice list. There used to be a comedy serial Chotte Bade in the evenings..

The servant was called Madan Baan. There was Mitthu baby. The father/dadaji would be reading telephone directory for timepass! I think it was a Sai Paranjpe serial.

Paying Guest is another nice serial that I remember.

Showtheme is another serial not seen in the list. It was based on movies but with some theme for each episode.

Not sure if Mungerilal was before 90s. Mungeri lal ke haseen sapne.

Ye Jo Hai Zindagi with Renuka Sahane and Satish Shah and Shafi Inamdar was hilarious. Of course Chachi was very good too.Bhattacharji and his wife were good as neighbors.

Tamas was a huge hit in the 1990-91 time frame with Om puri.

Subah was a serial about drugs in college and with a powerful cast.

Different Strokes, Fraggie Rocks were very popular too aired on Sunday afternoons. I was too young to understand the english at that time however.

Short films from films division that used to be aired repeatedly still stay fresh in memory. sooraj ek chanda ek taare anek. extra chappathi, one about Unity of India with nice music.

its a good exercise going down the memory lane. No one really bothers to remember them though they have shaped our thoughts and values quite a bit.

Thanks!

Wow.mind blowing!!! I came across this string today, and it made fascinating reading!!
Really makes us go through the corridors of time! but we still do remember every serial vividly. May I add, that there were a few films made exclusively as 'telefilms' for Doordarshan.

I remember 'Ek ruka hua faisla' starring Pankaj Kapoor, Then there was another Mahesh Bhatt film made for DD starring Kumar Gaurav (the name eludes me). Basanti was also a good serial in the early days of 80's.

Though we are only talking about hindi serials, shall I take the liberty of mentioning a few english serials like 'the odd couple', 'different strokes', 'Target', 'the Old fox', 'are you being served' which were also hugely popular in the late 80's. we still remember the serial actors by their screen names: Nanhe, lallu, chutki, badki, khopdi, guru, laajoji etc; It seems like it was only yesterday!! Good job, keep it going!!!

Hi Kiran Kumar,

As far as the Mahesh Bhatt film made for DD starring Kumar Gaurav is concerned it was called JANAM as I can recall.
