Sh. Bobby ji,

I remember one serial on doordarshan in very early period say 1980,s "Pintoo Singh Taxi wala" with Paintal as in lead role.

bobbysing

submitted on 23 January 2013

Hi Naveen,
Thanks a lot for reminding me but actually it was "Ladoo Singh Taxi Wala" as I can recall and would soon add it in the article too.

Cartoons:
Guchee, potlie Baba, tales spin, duck tales, gadget man, superhuman samurai

Serials:
Ajnabi, Hindustani, Khanon, captain house, street hawk, turning point, different strokes, made in india.

bobbysing

submitted on 23 January 2013

Thanks Bala for writing in but here we are actually listing all the HINDI serials before 90 only.
Yet it was good to read those names again.

Kamalapur, I think the name of the serial was "Apni Apni Manzil". I think Channa Ruparel played the lead role of a villager's daughter at the place the hero goes to. Yes, I recall it was a good serial.

Usha, the serial was called "Kshitij yeh nahin" (beyond the horizon) , I think. Supriya Pilgaonkar played the lead role. Rajat Kapoor (of Vyomkesh Bakshi fame) played her husband who gets killed in the army and is mostly shown in flashback. It was a very beautiful and touching story of how her father in law helps her and her little daughter move on and find love again. Would love to watch it again.

There are many mentions of "Phir wahi Talaash" in the comments above but I can't quite recall much about this . Was it a sequel to the serial "Talaash" ? The one that starred Mousumi Chatterjee (and Alok Nath ?)Her real life daughter played a young Mousumi in the serial. The title song went "Jeevan...ek pyaas hai. Sabhi ko...kuch talaash hai. Jinki hum talaash mein umr bhar chalein...." . The tune was exactly similar to the very old movie song "Tum pukaar lo, tumhaara intezaar hai".

Someone mentioned the Sai Paranjape serial "Chote Bade". Sulabha Deshpande and her husband played the grandparents of Winnie Paranjape. I was too small and could barely understand much but remember the servant "Madan Ban" who was a very funny character. He would answer the phone saying "Helloo....who you ? you who ? I the Madanban" :)

The original "ghar jamai" serial by Shreedhar Ksheerasagar was also much awaited and loved. Anant Mahadevan played the son in law from Mysore ("Subbu"). He would even speak a few lines in Kannada scolding the cook for making bad coffee :)

One of the comments above talked about a serial where two reporters go around interviewing people about Doordarshan programs. It was supposed to be a comedy serial, my parents used to watch and laugh a lot though I couldn't understand anything unless someone translated the jokes for me :) Do remember the serial name though, it was called "Tasveer ka doosra rukh"

I could go on and on talking about those Doordarshan days. Those were the best times ! Thanks for all those nostalgic memories which took me back to my childhood. I miss those days !

bobbysing

Thanks once again 80's Kidz and I really loved reading about all these serials in details once again. No doubt, your comment indeed is a valuable one for many like minded friends here.

Nobody mentioned the western music program called Hot Tracks which used to air at 10:30 pm i guess once a week. It was started almost the same time when MTV started, 1983-84, so that's remarkable. And the guy instrumental in bringing the program to Indian shore was a young son of an industrialist - Anil Ambani!

No wonder it was sponsored by Vimal ('only Vimal')! My uncle used to record the music videos into a blank VHS cassette. The program instilled my love for western music in a big way. It was anchored by a young Sharon Prabhakar (before she married Alyque Padamsee). Now when I see MTV, Channel V and Vh1 , I think of those days and how much excitement it used to bring on us !!!!

Gone are the days.....

bobbysing

Hi Arun,
Thanks for your valuable input but since the article and discussion here mainly is about the HINDI serials of that era so the names were not there. However it was great reading about this program after a long time once again and thanks for reminding us all.

and Two if Doordarshan itself relays them again in any of their channels.

So keep cheking in both these places and you may find them soon.

There was a Sci-Fi TV series which used to be aired on Doordarshan in late 90s. The show format was that the crew of the ship used a time machine to bring some well known scientist like Einstein, Newton from past so as to solve the problem they faced in the space...whats its name??

Even I am desperate to find the name of this serial which saurav mentioned!!!

There used to be a space ship, crew members and a notorious kid whose friend was a robot. That robot would talk in a funny accent. In every episode they bring different scientists through a time machine and then demonstrate what they did in their lifetime and also made scientists to demonstrate their work.

I think it used to aired around 12pm or around 4 pm when I used to come from school :P

Please if anybody knows the name of the serial do let me know. please.

Unfortunately the serial has not been released in the Home Video market and there are very rare possibilities for it to get released too.

However it may be uploaded officially or unofficially at Youtube or gets telecast again on any Doordarshan Channel in the coming months/years.

So these are the only two options where you can get to see it again.

Bobby Sir,
I'm just surprised to see that you're also the great admirer of our old Doordarshan serials. Sir, I think you have missed the serials like Chunaoti, that was based on college students, then the Sundays without Appu aur Pappu, I can't think. Then there was Chayageet only for old songs I think. Whereas Chitrahaar was for recent songs. One serial on Sundays with Mohinder Amarnath, the song I can't forget, Khel hi hai hamara jeevan, desh ki khatir kuch kar jana..... That serial was based on Cricket. Stone boy was not in English I think. I remember one serial on Thursdays Guniraam with Rakesh Bedi in lead. Then Om Puri in Kakaji Kahin and many more. I just love that era and praying to God if he can bring back that just once for me.....
Thanks

I still watch Byomkesh Bakshi on DD. I never get bored with these serials. This are precious assets for DD. I hope, Like Byomkesh Bakshi , DD will also show other serials again. I m waiting for the time to come. I request DD channel, instead of showing this ugly daily soaps. Show the beautiful and meaningful old serials. Any way nowadays not many watch this DD serials.

bobbysing

submitted on 26 March 2013

Hi Chandrakant,
Its quite difficult to adjust with the current TV trends for a person who finds deep satisfaction in watching those precious serials even today,
Most of the present serials are simply not acceptable or worth giving time but the truth is that they actually do sell and get them revenue too.

However serials like Byomkesh Bakshi or the re-runs of the old ones doesnt excite the advertisers and hence not given a chance even by the channel people. So the only two places where we can get them is in the home video market or Youtube and I hope that with Youtube generating income now, soon all these serials should be there officially.

So lets hope for the best.

Dear Bobby ji
I just came across a website stating buniyaad will be re-released buy Deepti Bhatnagar Production on Sahara one.....no other details available.

bobbysing

submitted on 19 April 2013

Hi Rashmi,
Though I dont have any info on this but if its going to be on air then its sure a great opportunity for all youngsters of the present age to witness one of the most loved trendsetters of the past in its original form.
However if they would be starting it again then sure going to publicise it too heavily to get the most TRP.
So we can let all other friends here know whenever any such advert or news reaches us individually.

And till then Cheers with HIS BLESSINGS

Hi Bobby,

Nice post, and equally nice and informative comments; took me on a walk down memory lane.....Those were the days, weren't they! It really is strange, and I am sure you will agree that not one serial from modern day is a patch on the ones from the 80's. Only sad thing is that our present generation of children are not growing up such lovely serials anymore.

One of my favourite serials, which somehow didn't get a mention in any of the comments earlier was "YATRA". It was based on a very interesting concept, that of a train journey, Himsagar Express, from Kanyakumari to Jammu, and is an anthology of stories of the people travelling on it. It was directed by Shyam Benegal, with Om Puri as the main protagonist, an Army jawan.

Sharing below couple of title songs which I found on the net : The gem from Subah with music by RD Burman and himself on the vocal, Chunauti's lilting melody by Amit kumar, and Bharat Ek Khoj's timeless chantings.

Subah - <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=k6g0egugUNI>

Bharat Ek Khoj - <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vBbSbCczYeM>

Chunauti - <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=r1-MTIYpZG4>

Cheers...

Yes Roshan John,

....Those were really the days and its also kind of sad that the present generation of children is not getting such quality stuff on their TV, Computers or Mobiles.

But thanks a lot for writing in with new names and links which would surely be useful for many friends here.

I believe the show about the time machine which saurav and Wajid mentioned above was called something like "Vayoo 2050" (Not sure about the number). I have also been trying to find it online. It also had a robot named "Zigmoid" AKA ziggy xD.

Also I remember a serial named Mrignaini, starring beautiful Pallavi Joshi, Sunehre Pal (showing biographies of film stars), Pawan Malhotra's national award winning movie Bagh Bahadur (I am mentioning the name of this movie in this serial category because I never heard this brilliant off-beat movie telecasted ever after late 80's anywhere on TV).

bobbysing

Dear Amit,

Thanks for your second comment here but regarding Pawan Malhotra's national award winning movie "Bagh Bahadur", it might get released soon on DVD as NFDC, the producer is now coming up with all its films slowly on digitally re-stored format in the market.

So keep looking at their releases in the market and it should be there soon. (Till now they have released more than 35-40 titles from all languages lead by Hindi.)

Hi Ashish,
As you might have read in the post and comments above, here we are actually into recalling the time where there was no Cable Network in the country (before 1990) with only one channel to watch ie Doordarshan.
But since SHANTI started post 91 in 1994 may be, therefore it is not mentioned here.

However it was indeed one of the first Tele Soap Operas made on a big scale so may be one of our friends here has any rare info of its availability to share in the following comments.
So lets be hopeful and keep visiting.

Hi Mr. Bobby,
Thank you so much for taking this wonderful initiative. I have added a few more serials aired on DD-1 to the list:

- 1) Majhdhaar
 - 2) Lahoo ke Phool
 - 3) Mitti ke Rang
 - 4) Yugantar (Based on Bengali background)
 - 5) I don't remember the name but it starred Firdaus Dadi as a teenager with Girish Karnad as her father and Farida Jalal as her governess.
 - 6) One more serial in which Hemamalini had acted along with Kabir Bedi
 - 7) Ducktales
 - 8) Talespin
 - 9) He-man
 - 10) Giant Robot (Probably on DD-2). It was so popular during the 80s that the moment the news was spread that it was aired on 2nd channel, all playgrounds and building compounds used to be empty in the twinkling of an eye.
 - 11) Mashaal directed by Arun Govil based on pre-independence era.
 - 12) I dont remember the name of this serial, but the lead couple win a lottery, but still don't part with their down-to-earth behaviour.
 - 13) One more serial which was comedy in which there is a South-Indian couple.
 - 14) The Sword of Tipu Sultan
- Folks...please keep on adding to this list.....

Hello Bobby ji,

I am trying to remember the name of an old DD serial but can only remember glimpses of it. I know your blog lists only those before 1991 but it could have been from early 90s. The plot was about a government office and two 'sarkari babu' trying to outdo each other. One of them was the great Shail Chaturvedi. I can't remember the other's name. It ran for a small amount of time but was very enjoyable with the subtle humour and excellent acting. I tried looking up late Mr. Shail Chaturvedi's filmography but couldn't find mention of this particular serial.

Another serial I can't remember the name was from before 1991. The title song was very fast and catchy with Sanskrit words similar to or same as 'Mahish Mardini, Kunjar V'dani, Atma vilas vinaye'. I wish I could remember more details but it was something to do with stories based on 'woman empowerment'.

All in all a great blog. It took me back to my childhood. Keep up the good work.

bobbysing

submitted on 16 June 2013

Hello Abhi,
Thanks for your kind words and I am sure all friends here would be able to help you out in this.

As I feel, the first serial of Shail Chaturvedi, it might be "Shriman Shrimati".
and the Sanskrit Shaloks remind me of the title song of "Bharat Ek Khoj" too though I am not sure about it.

May be a better answer is there in the further comments as we get them. So keep visiting.

Though this is more about serials, since we are also discussing a small period of time in the 80s before cable became prevalent, we should also mention certain aspects of doordarshan that are noteworthy. For one, the movies in different regional languages that used to be aired every sunday afternoon, just after another nice touch - the news for the hearing impaired. A lot of great award winning movies were screened and I used to enjoy these.

We were also instructed by our teachers to watch the evening news in hindi and english to get our diction and grammar right.

Though this might not qualify as a serial per se, the World of Sports, hosted by Narottam Puri was one of the only ways for sports fans to keep abreast of different sports on a weekly basis on Sundays, 430PM if I am not mistaken.

It's nice to get nostalgic once in a while, but not nice to stay in that mode forever :)

Thanks for this post, it is a good topic.

Chandrakant,
I remember the saturday afternoons with Didi's comedy show (followed by Spiderman cartoon). Some clips are available on youtube for Didi's comedy show.

The Anu Kapoor serial from Sat afternoons was called "Khari Khari". I remember the title song with its tune very clearly. It went "Sun e meri antaraatma.....chahe baat ho choti choti aur chahe ho badi badi, hum tokehdetete hai sabke muh par khari khari". Anu Kapoor played the servant who didn't know diplomacy and would embarrass his employer (Daisy Irani) in front of her family or friends by telling the truth. Are you sure there was Swaroop Sampath in it ? I don't remember that. Around the same time there was another comedy serial called "Aa bail mujhe maar" starring Bharati Achrekar (Mrs Wagle of 'Wagle ki duniya' fame)

The Ashok Saraf/Maya Alagh serial was "Choti badi batein" on superstitions. Remember that title song too " Andhe vishwason mein uljhein hum din mein bitaatein raatein.." It repeated sometime again during early 90s. I was too small when it was aired the first time to understand anything.

@Stan above: My younger sis and I loved that title track of Sindbad cartoon too and would keep singing it in that funny voice.. It went "agar magar dole naiyyaa..bhawar bhawar jaye re paani ...neela samundar hai aakaash pyaasi, doobe na doobe na mera jahaazi....doobe na mera jahaazi...Dole re dole dole dole re...".

Guess what, I quickly looked for it and to my surprise found it on youtube:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mvNyikgV9GQ>

But I never managed to find the title track of Taaro, son of the dragon, the one which went "hawa meethi tu aaja, dakshin se...."

I remember Mujrim Hazir as well and the haunting "hun huna hun huna..." accompanying the palki. The story was about some zamindar who cheats the old widow (kaali ganj ki bahu) played by Nutan by not repaying some money due to her. The grandson of that zamindar witnesses this through his childhood and wants to never have kids himself since he holds his family responsible for the agony and suffering of that old lady. Virendra Singh played the grandson and Navni parivaar his wife. I can't recall how that serial ended though.

I now remember some more serials from that time. there was one called "Aashiyaana" in which this army officer has three sons. The first two join the army and navy and the third one wants to join the air force. But the parents are against it as they don't want all their children in the armed forces for the fear of losing them all. Vishal Singh played the youngest son. It was a short serial that lasted only 13 episodes I think the way serials those days were.

There was another serial called Mashaal starring Arun Govil with Sudesh Berry playing his younger brother. It was about pre-independence movement from what I recall.

Another really nice serial was I think titled "Saara jahaan hamaara" but I am not very sure. There is this young motherless girl played by Firdaus Dadi who is living with her father (played by Girish Karnad IIRC). She is a bit difficult and angry kid. They get a governess later (played by Farida Jalal). The family then goes on to adopt a couple of street kids and another orphan girl and eventually they become one big happy family. Very nice serial and we used to look forward to it a lot. Anyone else remembers this ?

The serial you have referred to is:
AASHCHARYA DEEPAK.
The character in the lead was ANIKET BABU.
And the real name of the person that played the role of DEEPAK, is Sawyasachi Chakravarti.
(Later on he played the lead in GAURAV.)

Hi all, How I wish Doordarshan would re-telecast those golden oldies. I fondly remember many such serials and features.

There was this show which used to be like "Aisa Bhi Hotha hai?" that used to cover lot of interesting things and trivia. I remember this particular episode where the show host removes his shirt without removing his full sleeved sweater :)

Here are a few that I can recall.

- 1) Aisa Bhi hotha hai (Trivia and General Knowledge program)
- 2) Darpan (Based on award winning short stories from all over india)
- 3) Ankh Ajubey(not sure if it is pre 1991)
- 4) Life line
- 5) Kunwar saab(Not sure if this was the title but this serial was about a simple person of royal lineage who comes to city)
- 6) Lekhu (An inventor who flunks school exams, but goes onto receive an award)
- 7) Bheem Bhavani
- 8) Quiz time somewhere in 1985-86) The contestants would have a one physical test round where they would be asked to cross a army style ditch by swinging on a rope and balance on a narrow wall etc)
- 9) Himalay Darshan (Wonderful series - alas I was too young to remember and I wish it would be available on a DVD)

Thank you very much Bobby for putting together the list and updating it as well.

There are a couple of excellent documentaries as well, one of which I still remember is that of Indian railways, as told by an retired employee. This must have been telecast somewhere in 1993 - I do not recall the name of the documentary though.

If any one has the DVD's or the links to the above programs please email me. I wont mind paying my share for the favour.

I just happened to remember one serial " Palash ke Phool". It was a very nice serial. I think Poonam sarin was actress in this serial. She was also in phir wohi talash...She was too beautiful. I had cursh on her during those days. There is not a single photo of hers on net.

The old serials mostly were based on many famous Indian Literature. So It was a clean entertainment. I Loved that era.

bobbysing

Dear Chandrakant,

Literature really used to be the base of most of the serials in the past. But now since the younger brigade is not really interested in our rich literature, the makes have also stopped looking into them for their subjects and plots.

I hope there is a change coming soon reviving our rich literature once again in TV Serials by some thoughtful directors.

There was a Sci-Fi TV series which used to be aired on Doordarshan in late 90s. The show format was that the crew of the ship used a time machine to bring some well known scientist like Einstein, Newton from past so as to solve the problem they faced in the space...whats its name??

Even I am desperate to find the name of this serial which saurav mentioned!!!

There used to be a space ship, crew members and a notorious kid whose friend was a robot. That robot would talk in a funny accent. In every episode they bring different scientists through a time machine and then demonstrate what they did in their lifetime and also made scientists to demonstrate their work.

I think it used to aired around 12pm or around 4 pm when I used to come from school :P

Answer is Great Experiment :

dvd/video link of show 'great experiment 1997-1998

plot: old scientist/uncle Sunil Shende, kids and human robot on spaceship, famous scientists came on show (einsten,newton,graham bell, etc)

Doordarshan Archives/ Purchase point for 'the Great Experiments' aired 1997-1998 UTV Productions Directed by Kabir.

Dear Pranab Saxena,

Thanks for your effort made but actually there has been a lot added in this respect in more than 600 comments on this post in the past. Moreover if you wish to see each and every name of those serials, then do check out the Wikipedia page on this subject of Doordarshan Serials.

OR

If you are really interested then please go through all those comments compiled in the PDF files shared in the links given below the post as they have some very exclusive and nostalgic information points about many such serials of that golden era, probably not available at any one place on the net.

So please do find some time to chek those PDF files and Keep Visiting.
Cheers!

To all the like-minded readers here,

Since the article was posted in December 2009, there have been more than 500 comments on the same with mention of all the remaining titles, many valuable links and some rare information about our loved serials of that golden era, which might not be there on the net in a collective form.

So if you are really interested then you can easily go through all those comments and discussion now compiled in PDF files (year wise) shared in the links given below the post.

The files can be downloaded with just a click and then accessed as per your convenience to once again feel that nostalgia of those forgotten times.

With a hope that you would love to go back in that golden era with so much info about all those serials to cherish and enjoy!

Cheers!

Dear Bobby Ji

I am frantically looking for videos of the serial "Rahen Na Rahen Hum" hosted by Javed Akhtar in 2001. Are those episodes available in the form of DVD?

I am sure you would be able to help. I even thought of writing to Javed Ji but I could not get his email ID.

Thanks & regards

Dear Ravindra A Kamble,

Unfortunately the serial has not been released in the home video market and the only place where it can appear in the future is Youtube with the efforts of a fan only. So do keep looking in there and I would also let you know if any update is there at my side.

However regarding contact with Javed Akhtar Saab, I think he is on Twitter and you can contact him there easily.
Cheers!

Priceless

submitted on 19 October 2013

Hi All,

I hava thought of some 5-6 DD serials which I have seen during my childhhod days but still remember some bit.

Please help me recall the names and if there is any link available somewhere to watch them again.

1. This was a marathi adaptation with arun govil, archana joglekar where she comes and stays at his home. There is a beautiful song (Tera Mera manwa kaise ek hui re).
2. Then there was Nisha singh serial with the lead guy acting quite khadoos. Even though he liked her but never admitted, probably his name was aditya dhanrajgir.

3. This one had smita jaykar, maya alagh and tom alter. Was shot somewhere in the hills. Smita was in love with Kiran kumar but couldnt marry him and then she suddenly meets him somewhere. Also had the guy from dekh bhai dekh and gul gulshan gulpham (Vishal Singh).

4. This was om puri's serial, The tittle song was like " Yeh ishq nahi aasaan, itna to samajh lijiye, ek aag ka dariya hain aur doob ke jana hain).

5. This one had girish karnad and probably his younger brother was in love with some snob rich girl but girish karnad got him married to some village girl and he doesnt accept her as his wife. Some south indian adaptation.

6. This was a telefilm (Hindola I believe), Smita jayakar loves and dreams about shekhar suman but she is married to Farooq sheikh. It was a sweet romcom.

7. Last one ... This is some navy serial (not sea hawks)... This girl loves some army or navy guy but her mom (Vineeta Malik) doesnt let her marry him and instead asks her to tie a rakhi.

8. This was a serial on school guys shot in hostel ..probably the first one .. It had a lead guy who was quite strong.

Will think of some more and post. Need help in remembering the names and find a link to watch.
