Hi,
In 90's I used to watch a serial and I do not remember the name, can you please help me to get it.....

The serial is about a metal ball which comes from a different place or planet and makes all nuisance and troubles the people in that area.

I could remember the scenes where it rings the bell of a person and then hides and that person keeps shouting who rang the bell.

The next scene I remember is that It goes to a supermarket and eats all the stuff in the packets and .....others

Hi Sawan Kumar, Bobby

At this moment very few of those old serials are available online or on DVD and there are very few chances of them getting released soon in any case.

So all we can do is hope and wait that someone uploads them personally on Youtube.

Sir,
During my child hood in early 1990s i used to watch a serial;where the son of a dead postman finds some letters from his fathers which were never delivered;They included letters written many years back.And the son decides to deliver them;Each episode is divided for each letter and the confusion and drama is created by the untimely delivery of the same.In the climax episode he gets a letter belonging to his own family and gets in trouble and tragedy and in the end realizing the mistake of delivery letters as much as 25 years old he burns the rest of the letters.This one is one of the most powerful and emotional serials ever aired on Doordarshan.Can anyone tell its name and other details.Please

Hi,
Gr8 to have some old memories revisited through this wonderful site. Good work Bobby! I believe the nostalgic memories which our generation has about having watched the good old DD, the new generation can never have with all the bombardment of channels and their (often low quality) software. One more remarkable thing I would like to mention.

For most of the old DD serials, we can even remember the title track which takes us back to those times, be it Chandrakanta (sung by Sonu Nigam), Mr.Yogi, Junoon (by Vinod Rathod), Swabhimaan (by Sunita Rao), Trishna (instrumental), Kiley ka Rahasya ( the 'Abhishapt Kila' song!), etc., etc. Today either the title tracks are not made or there is no time to air them, which is rather unfortunate, because the viewers actually get emotionally involved with the serial more when they identify it with a track.

Also, I would like to mention the serial 'Spiderman' (dubbed) which used to come on Sat afternoons and another serial (the name I forget) in which the main character was known as 'Chiman Rao' (even the title of that serial ran something like 'Aaye Chiman Rao'). There was also a dubbed version of the English Novel 'Jane Eyre' which used to be aired (if I remember correctly) on alternate Saturday mornings. Sat evenings were also devoted to the splendid 'Show Theme' (who can forget the ever smiling Tabassum!). On Sundays, before the evening movie, Sridevi used to come onscreen with her 'Seema' lights! I believe even 'Stone Boy' used to be aired half an hour before the Sunday movie (was the name of that 'Boy' Ashish, if I remember correctly?)

'Fairy Tale Theatre' was another programme which we really used to enjoy as children. Then there was 'Faster Fene' (a boy detective!)

Hi bobbyji . I think the eighties were the golden era of hindi serials with much realistic and related to our day to day life. I can still remember watching Barrister vinod, Gul gulshan gulfam, fauji, kile ka rahasya , karamchand, faster fenne, giant robot and many more. I think the whatsapp generation should have a look at these serials.
